President's Message

A year has quickly passed since the new Board got elected and the time has come for our Annual General Meeting on July 17th, 2011.

The Board has accomplished many things during the first year of their term. The most noteworthy events include: a night with a Bollywood Star "Apro Boman Irani," organizing social and entertainment events every month, sports events and promoting cooperation between the two organizations. We have endeared to continuously encourage the participation of Iranian Zoroastrians, working towards our vision, introducing government awards for our volunteers, annual recognition of our volunteers by the Board, applying and obtaining Government Grant and organizing a Health Awareness Day.

We would not be successful without all of our members, dedicated volunteers and donors supporting our ideas and participating in all our events.

Congratulations to our Bingo team who continues to work hard and has generated over $37,000 this year. Congratulations to our Drama group for successfully presenting the hilarious play "Saasoo No Suntap". It was a great success, received glowing remarks and has generated over $19,000. This would not have been possible without sacrifice of time by the cast and help of our volunteers.

The Board is looking forward to another successful year and getting closer to our vision.

I encourage all our members, young and younger, to contribute by continuing to be active in our organization, by volunteering your time, and to please donate when possible to support OZCF in achieving its Vision.

Thank You.

YOUR BEST INTEREST IS MY TOP PRIORITY!

As We Grow...

The OZCF is growing and our hall is being used by the community for so many functions, both private and public. We have been given permission to build a patio cover in the back and this will mean more usable space for functions during the summer months. New banquet style chairs have been ordered and a storage shed has been purchased to house all our tables, chairs and various items that were being kept in the hall. Thanks to the hard work of our committees and the generosity of our members we are able to move forward one step at a time, coming closer to our goal of a large gathering place for our community.

A Worthy Cause

Armaity Anandasagar is making sleeping mats to send overseas to the victims of floods, tsunami, earthquakes and natural disasters. Remarkably, these mats are made from the OUTER, branded plastic milk bags that hold the individual bags of milk in them (NOT the individual transparent milk bags). They remain mildew-free and are ideal for these living conditions for the people in these regions.

She has requested that if you can collect them and bring them to OZCF whenever you come there for any function, she will very much appreciate that. If you can make sure they are dry and clean and flattened, it would help. This will mean that it will save her time to wash and dry them, as the smell of stale milk should be removed before they are used. It does not cost anyone anything—please remember to collect and bring them to the centre or the next time you may see Armaity!

Masala Dosa Night

An cozy gathering graced the ZRCC for Masala Dosa Night on Saturday, May 14, 2011. There were both varieties on hand, the spicy food and spiced up seniors. Delightful dosas (crêpes) with an array of vegetarian condiments were freshly prepared courtesy of Armaity Anandasagar and her group of volunteers. Dessert and a comedic film capped a lovely little evening.

Power of Prayers

by Farida Bamji

"Morning has broken"
It's a New Day!
Prayers when recited
Keeps the ugliness at bay!
Food is for the body
Prayers for the Soul
One without the other
Can't make a person whole
"No Fire or Coal so hotly glows
As the secret love of which
No one knows"
When the Prayers begin to flow,
I am reminded to trudge
The Path of Straight & Narrow
When I pray
My heart begins to sing
As they are like
"The Wind Beneath my wings"
"Lean on me"
That's what Prayers
Seem to say:
"We'll take all
Tears, Sadness & blues out
Of your way
Whatever I have done & said
I do my best
'Cause I know the Power
Of Prayers takes care of the rest.

Annual Natak a Big Success!

More than 400 members of Toronto's Gujarati community roared with non-stop laughter on Saturday June 4th, 2011 when the Toronto Parsi Natak Group successfully performed "Sasoo No Suntaap."

The show opened with the Toronto Parsi Drama Group's standard benediction by Khorshid Jobani laying a garland of flowers over a portrait of Zarathustra, over the strains of Richard Strauss' Also Spake Zarathustra. Then the laughs started even before Sasoo No Suntaap began: the emcees set the comedic tone with a humorous opening.

This comedy of errors is set in the home of Pervin (Jasmine Wadia) and Rustom (Jal Panthaky). Pervin's brother Jimmy, (Porus Pastakia) lives with them, and Jimmy has been living a lie; not surprisingly, he wants it hidden. Meanwhile, Pervin's domineering, ever-suspicious mother Naju (Meher Panthaky) arrives for a visit with her henpecked husband, Phiroze (Sam Gazdar), with Pervin's sister Coomi (Tazeen Cooper) -- a non Hindi-speaking, self-described Bollywood star. Well, the visiting members of this dysfunctional family also have a secret which they want to keep from the other side. It's this constant battle for secrecy which forms the basis of the comedy in "Sasoo."

Other memorable characters include Shirin Chaturvedi's Dolly the Maid, who serves as the lynchpin behind Jimmy's subterfuge, Dr. Madon (Firdosh Balsara): a dilettante and Jack-Of-All-Trades-And-Master-Of-None, trying to get Rustom to invest in one of his half-baked schemes for easy money. He enlists real Bollywood starlet Vanita Chopra (Aban Vazir) to help out Coomi. Finally, Detective Pavri (Fredoon Golwala) tries to sort out this whole sordid mess. What the audience came to see was what they got and then some: 3 hours of serotonin-inducing belly-laughs!

The characters were caricatures of every Parsi stereotype you know, without being overly broad or campy, with wonderful performances by all cast members, including veterans and new members.

Guess what folks - this show is going on the road! The Toronto Parsi Drama Group is bringing the Suntaap down the Turnpike to New Jersey, where they'll be helping ZAGNY raise money for their worthy cause. Other Zoroastrian organizations looking to avail themselves of this comedy should get in touch with Jal and Meher Panthaky -- collectively known in Toronto as "Janoo and Janoo" -- to have it performed closer to home.

If there's any Suntaap to be had here, it's the headache you may receive from laughing so hard for so long!

Zubin Surkari Celebration

What an extraordinary celebration to witness! Hometown hero, Zubin Surkari recently made a triumphant return from the World Cup played in India, Sri Lanka and Bangladesh. On May 15, 2011 he was given a hero's welcome at the ZRCC.

Many of Zubin's friends, family and teammates, past and present, were on hand. Tributes poured in from those who had played with Zubin, MP's and with one even forthcoming from the Prime Minister's Office!

In playing for the Canadian national squad, Zubin joined a very elite list, which includes only Farokh Engineer and Ronnie Irani, as the only Parsis to have ever represented their countries at the Cricket World Cup. As a further testament to Zubin's accomplishments, Farokh Engineer himself called in from England and spoke to Zubin live, acknowledging the latter's heroics.

Zubin has been around various ZCC (Zoroastrian Cricket Club) grounds nearly from the time he started walking. His Dad, Eric, a formidable cricketer himself, used to bring Zubin to practice sessions and games. Past ZCC members proudly reminisced how this once scrawny, little boy had gone on to represent his country on the grandest stage.

After lunch, the audience had a chance to toss a few questions at Zubin. He spoke fondly of his experiences of playing abroad and of how well the team was received in Bangladesh, Sri Lanka and especially in India. He reserved special praise for the Indian crowds whom he said were unbelievably passionate toward their cricket and that it was an incredible and unforgettable experience of having played in India.

Zubin maintained that he would continue playing cricket at the highest level in domestic leagues and on the national team. He also hopes we can inspire greater numbers of youngsters into taking up the sport.

Those in attendance on the day joined Parsis everywhere in displaying their overwhelming pride at the accomplishments of Aapro Zubin.

An abridged version of an interesting Q&A Session with Zubin appears on Page 7.

To see the full transcript of an interview with Zubin Surkari, please see the OZCF website.

SPECIAL FEATURE: An Insightful Question-and-Answer Session with Zubin Surkari

A certain Mr. Mehta can no longer lay sole claim to the title of Aprozubin. Having returned from the recently completed World Cup of Cricket, Zubin Surkari has the distinction of being the very first Zoroastrian to have represented Canada in the quadrennial tournament. Vision caught up with the stylish batsmen and bowled him a few questions.

Vision:* What does it mean to you to have been able to represent your country on the grandest stage?

Zubin: Being born and raised in Canada, I definitely feel immense loyalty and nationalism towards representing this great country at the world stage. Anyone who is lucky enough to represent their country of birth at the highest level in a tournament like this must feel overwhelmed at the opportunity given to them.

Vision:* You are in rarified air as only Farrokh Engineer, Ronnie Irani and now yourself can lay claim to being the only Parsis to have ever played in the World Cup. In Mumbai, the community were very proud of this achievement and celebrated your accomplishment. Can you explain how it feels to have your name mentioned in the same breath as these two renowned cricketers?

Zubin: To be uttered in the same breath as two players mentioned is a great honour. They are both well known cricketers and to be only the third Parsi to ever play in a World Cup is a fantastic feeling. Representing our small but illustrious community and to make it on the world stage is an incredible achievement for both those cricketers. For me to experience a small part of that is something I will remember for years to come.

Vision:* Muralitharan, Ponting and Afridi are venerable names amongst the billions who follow the sport worldwide. How did you feel directly facing these players?

Zubin: I don't think anyone in the position that Canada or other associate countries are in, can help but be in awe when you come across names like that. It is an incredible feeling for sure to be alongside and competing with the likes of them. They often prove why they are the names they are with consistent, professional approaches to the game. That being said, they are still the opponent and need to be treated accordingly. If you spend too much time looking and watching what they are doing, you may forget to watch the 90 mph Yorker, or in my case something more delicate.

They are professionals and if you want to compete with the likes of them, you need to go toe to toe and battle the same way they do. Cricket is a great equalizer at times and almost anything can help when you apply pressure, and they are no different. They can just handle it better more consistently.

Vision:* A few years ago, your health had alarmingly deteriorated. This makes your comeback to the national team all the more remarkable. How did that experience mould you to get to where you are today?

Zubin: Anyone who has been through an illness or even major injury has to decide at some point how they plan on dealing with it. You could sit around and feel sorry for yourself and depressed, but in the end it really doesn't solve anything. I'd be lying if I said I wasn't dejected and unhappy or that I didn't sit around asking "why me" or "what did I do to deserve this", but at some point you have to start dealing with it. For me initially was to get involved and help with the Canadian U-19's and later as an assistant to the national team. This at least got me to stay active and made me feel involved with the sport.

That being said, the body unfortunately dictates for the most part how you function. As hard as one would like to get better or be pain free, it is for the most part out of the individual's control. All you can do is weather the storm as best you can, stay positive and pray that things turn around.

For me, I was somewhat lucky. To be given the opportunity to return to almost perfect health was a blessing and something that I would embrace with enthusiasm. Health was always important for me but things would be somewhat different. My focus, determination and discipline towards achieving goals would keep me motivated to return to playing cricket for Canada or what seemed like anything I set myself to achieve.

Vision:* Cricket continues to be one of the fastest growing sports in Canada. What message would you give to young and aspiring cricketers?

Zubin: I would definitely tell them to get involved and join a local club or academy. I'd encourage them to watch as much cricket as possible and play as much as possible with friends or by themselves. Cricket in Canada hasn't quite got the whole junior development angle covered as yet but that shouldn't discourage the youth. A positive and supportive family also helps the child be active towards the sport. The more youth involved, the bigger the sport looks and the more it is perceived as a viable sport to get involved with.

Vision:* Zoroastrian Canadians everywhere are so proud of your accomplishments. We wish you the all very best in your future endeavours.

Zubin: Final thoughts? I would like to thank all that have supported me throughout my career. To my family and friends as well as the people in the Parsi community who are as close as family. To my team mates and supporters who have always encouraged me.
